Education. Vick visit

▶ Vick talked to students yesterday at Martin Luther King High School on Stenton Avenue at the request of U.S. Attorney Zane David Memeger, right.

Vick urges kids to be good

Eagles quarterback Michael Vick yesterday continued the trend he set two years ago upon arrival by speaking to an auditorium of teenagers about staying out of trouble. This visit was a request of relatively new U.S. Attorney for eastern Pennsylvania, Zane David Memeger, whose slogan is: "We can't arrest our way out of the problem." METRO

Bail denied for Philly mob boss

Despite little evidence of violence so far, Joseph Ligambi held Federal prosecutor says he's flight risk, 'involved in crime almost his entire life'

Reputed Philadelphia mob boss Joseph Ligambi was denied bail Thursday by a federal judge on charges of racketeering, extortion and related charges.

Ligambi and 12 of his underlings alleged to be members of the La Cosa Nostra organization were arrested Monday after a lengthy investigation by federal authorities. A grand jury indictment claims the group used their reputation for violence to perpetrate numerous criminal activities.

Federal prosecutors argued Thursday that Ligambi, 71, posed a flight risk due to the fact he faces several years in prison. They also described him as a threat to the community based on a history of intimidating witnesses and the alleged murder of Frankie Flowers in the 80s — a case Ligambi beat on appeal.

"He's been involved in crime almost his entire life," prosecutor David Troyer said.

Ligambi's defense attorney, Joseph Santaguida, claimed that Ligambi was beloved in the community and had no violent history.

"This is a 10-year investigation and nobody's even got a fingernail bent. Nobody's been smacked," Santaguida said.

In the end, U.S. District Court Judge Paul Diamond said though he would not compare Ligambi to mobsters Nicky Scarfo or John Gotti, Ligambi has an extensive criminal history and a pattern of witness intimidation and tampering with evidence.

Santaguida said he plans to appeal the decision.

Associate is also denied

Louis "Bent Finger Louie" Monacello, 44, was also denied bail Thursday by Diamond. Monacello, the son of a deceased Philadelphia police officer, is accused of taking part in La Cosa Nostra's loansharking and extortion. Diamond ruled that Monacello posed a "clear and present danger to the community" based on four prior convictions.

SEPTA, district to discuss TransPass

PHILADELPHIA. SEPTA General Manager Joe Casey and School District of Philadelphia officials are expected to sit down Friday to discuss a plan to prevent the elimination of free TransPasses for nearly 58,000 students.

District officials testified this week before City Council that the program, established in 2007, was in jeopardy due to budget cuts, but Casey told the media and concerned parents on Thursday that the passes are revenue-neutral for the district as a result of state subsidies.

Masch, however, said the state reimbursements are not received until August 2012, which would leave a hole in the budget for the year starting July 1.

Fishtown murder caught on tape

FISHTOWN. Police released video surveillance of the murder of a store clerk during an attempted robbery early Thursday. Authorities said the two gunmen entered the store near Front and Girard and demanded money.

They hit the clerk in the head with a shotgun and when he tried to run one of the suspects fired twice, killing him.

Video of the two men murdering the clerk is available at www.phillypolice.com.

DROP has already claimed Council seats, but legislation was introduced Thursday to overhaul the pension system instead of eliminating it. "I'll be the only 'no' vote," Councilman James Kenney said. "When people's 401(k)'s are tanking ... municipal employees, not just elected officials, should not get a pension perk." Outgoing Council President and DROP recipient Anna Verna called it "a better approach." It would:

- Require employees to work two years beyond their minimum retirement age before entering DROP
- Lowering the 4.5 percent minimum interest payment now required whatever is currently paid on one-year U.S. Treasury bonds (currently 0.2 percent)

Mayor Michael Nutter's spokesman Mark McDonald likened it to "rearranging deck chairs on a disaster of a program."

Bike lanes on way, Council wants say

City lawmaker thinks governing body should approve future lane projects Some say it would slow process

A month before a pilot program adds dedicated bike lanes to 10th and 13th streets from South to Spring Garden, City Councilman Bill Greenlee introduced a bill that would require Council approval for future projects.

"I'm not saying there's anything wrong with them, but Council has input on a number of issues with our roadways. I don't see why this should be any different," Greenlee said Thursday.

The Bicycle Coalition of Philadelphia and Mayor's Office of Transportation quickly responded that the bill would impede safety and add an unnecessary layer of red tape to a process that already solicits official and public input.

▶ More lanes are on their way; and more oversight may be coming, too.

"These bike lanes offer a real opportunity to make the streets safer for everybody," said the coalition's Sarah Stuart, pointing to successful pilot programs turned permanent on Pine and Spruce streets. "We don't want to slow down an already slow process."

Added Andrew Stober of the transportation office, "We want to work with council if they have specific concerns. We've worked with them in the past and hope to do so in the future."

Clarke wants to sue Corbett

After two days of testimony about the School District's troubling financial outlook, City Councilman Darrell Clarke introduced a resolution Thursday that could result in a lawsuit brought against Gov. Tom Corbett and other state officials "challenging the legality of [Pennsylvania's] funding for public education."

Labeling the proposed cuts "draconian, radical and unprecedented," particularly in poorer districts, Council would ask the Law Department to file suit. If it refused, Council would then seek outside counsel. "It's time for us to do something," Clarke said. METRO/BPH

Bosnian war crime fugitive faces trial

Bosnian Serb military leader Ratko Mladic caught after 15 years on the run ◐ Accused of orchestrating massacre at Srebrenica, siege of Sarajevo

GETTY IMAGES

▶ Mladic

Bosnian Serb wartime general Ratko Mladic was arrested in Serbia on Thursday after 15 years on the run from international genocide charges, opening the way for the once-pariah state to approach the European mainstream.

Mladic, accused of orchestrating the massacre of 8,000 Muslim men and boys in the town of Srebrenica and a brutal 43-month siege of Sarajevo during Bosnia's 1992-1995 war, was found in a farmhouse owned by a cousin, a police official said.

"Mladic was handcuffed and whisked away," said the official, who added that he had been cooperative. The once burly and widely feared general was not disguised, but had false identity papers and looked haggard and much older, he said.

"Hardly anyone could recognize him."

A friend of the Mladic family said he had been put on a plane to the international war crimes tribunal in The Hague, but Serbia said he was still in its custody. REUTERS

Judge voids controversial Wis. union law

A Wisconsin judge on Thursday voided a controversial Republican-backed law restricting the collective bargaining rights of public sector unions in the state.

Dane County Judge Maryann Sumi, who was appointed by a Republican governor, said Republican state lawmakers who passed the law in March had violated the state's open-meetings law in rushing the legislation through amid massive public protests at the state Capitol.

But the ruling will not end the bitter battle over the measure, which also sent 14 state Senators into hiding in neighboring Illinois to prevent a caucus and later sparked the largest wave of legislator recall votes in state history.

Sumi's ruling shifts the battleground to the state Supreme Court, where the case is now scheduled to be heard on June 6. REUTERS

Double trouble

Meanwhile, the state's Republican-controlled legislature may simply approve the bill again. They have had that option for months as the court considered the case, but declined to act because they insist the bill was passed legally.

Nestle, McD's may have to raise prices

U.S. food-price inflation may top the government's forecast as higher crop, meat, dairy and energy costs lead companies — including Nestle, McDonald's and Whole Foods — to boost prices.

Retail food prices will jump more than the U.S. Department of Agriculture's estimate of 3 percent to 4 percent this year, said Chad E. Hart, an economist at Iowa State University in Ames. It's likely companies will pass along more of their higher costs through year-end.

Groceries and restaurant meals rose 2.4 percent through April, the most to start a year since 1990. BLOOMBERG

TOM FOREMAN
POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT FOR CNN

A MOVABLE HOLIDAY

Ask a hundred people walking down the street which holiday we are celebrating this weekend, and the vast number will get it right: Memorial Day.

Ask them what it is for, and I suspect you'll get a lot of "it's the start of summer" answers. Then ask for the traditional date of the holiday, and unless you are talking to an old-timer, my guess is few will know. Which is strange, because the holiday falls on that date this year.

Memorial Day grew out of the Civil War, and was celebrated for the first time in 1868, by people placing flowers on the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers. The designated date was May 30. The celebration stayed on that date for a long time. Of course, I should not call it a celebration. The whole purpose is to mourn those who have fallen in the service of our nation. And yes, there was some discussion over precisely what that phrase meant between northern and southern folks.

CNN = POLITICS

"I think when someone agrees to get shot at for you, the quid pro quo ought to be a lifetime of gratitude."
FOREMAN

Still, May 30 was the date until the early 1970s, when in the anti-war climate after Vietnam, Congress moved it to the last Monday in May. Several other holidays were moved to Mondays by the same legislation which was designed to give federal workers more three-day weekends.

Pretty much ever since then, some people have tried to move Memorial Day back to the 30th. Mostly these campaigns have been lead by veterans who feel as if the loss of American lives among our troops should be marked by solemn remembrance — not so much by trips to the beach, softball games and pirate movies.

I suspect the holiday could not be moved with tongs and dynamite at this point, but I must admit I tend to favor the view of those old troops. Maybe it's because I came from a military family, but I think when someone agrees to get shot at for you, the quid pro quo ought to be a lifetime of gratitude. And when one of those folks gets killed, it is not too much to ask a nation to stop for a few hours each year to remember them.

In all fairness, as more than one writer has observed, their sacrifice is the only reason we are free to have a day off anyway.

Fukushima redux: Toxic waste site?

Areas more than 18 miles from Chernobyl remain "a dead zone," Ukraine's ambassador to Japan said on the 25th anniversary of the disaster.

Japan's atomic energy specialists are discussing a plan to make the Fukushima Dai-Ichi nuclear plant a storage site for radioactive waste from the crippled station run by Tokyo Electric Power Co. The Atomic Energy Society of Japan is studying the proposal.

Radiation leaks from the three reactor meltdowns at Fukushima rank the accident on the same scale as the Chernobyl disaster in 1986. The 20-kilometer exclusion zone around Fukushima has forced the evacuation of 50,000 households, extermination of livestock and disposal of crops, drawing comparisons with the Ukraine plant.

About 90 percent of the world's 270,000 tons in used nuclear fuel is stored at reactor sites, mostly in ponds seven meters deep, such as those exposed at the Fukushima site when hydrogen explosions blew the roofs off reactor buildings. BLOOMBERG

Romney, Palin top GOP primary poll

WASHINGTON. White House hopefuls Mitt Romney and Sarah Palin lead a narrower field of potential rivals for the 2012 Republican Party presidential nomination, according to a poll released Thursday.

The Gallup survey is the organization's first since Indiana Governor Mitch Daniels, former Arkansas Governor Mike Huckabee and real estate mogul Donald Trump opted out of the primary race. REUTERS

Madame president?

Palin ignited a storm of speculation this week.

Seen for months as an unlikely presidential contender, Palin authorized a feature-length film about herself, bought a home in Arizona where she could base her campaign and announced a bus tour of the East Coast, including a stop at the Liberty Bell Sunday.

SUMMER MUSIC PREVIEW

KE$HA: ‘My fans and I are taking over’

No. 1 artist parties hard, hitting her biggest venues yet during a summer tour

‘Every show I play, whether it’s to two people or 2,000 people, I go balls out’

Like most of Ke$ha’s songs — including chart-busters “Tik Tok” and “We R Who We R” — her song “Crazy Beautiful Life,” from her album, “Cannibal,” is a fine example of art imitating her … crazy beautiful life. At one point she sings, “Got here by runnin’ my mouth” — which is quite true in this interview.

What is your favorite line to sing these days?
I love to sing the line in “We R Who We R”: “We’re running this town just like a club” because my fans and I are a cult of rowdy misfits and we’re taking over! And at my shows, when we’re all there together, I can really feel our collective energy — and that line feels like a mantra for us.

There’s definitely humor in some of your lyrics, but you deliver them without laughing.
I have no idea what you mean. What’s funny about my lyrics? They’re all dead serious, like the line about the “mangina.” And the line about my anus is especially serious.

You mention the Rolling Stones in more than one song. Is a Mick Jagger collaboration imminent?
Do you have his number?

Unfortunately I don’t. Did you really jump the fence to get into see the Stones when you were broke, like you sing in “The Harold Song”?
I really did jump the fence to see the Stones when I was too broke to pay, but that wasn’t anything out of the ordinary. I didn’t have enough money to pay for shows until recently, so pretty much all the shows I’ve ever been to, I’ve had to sneak into. Over the years, I’ve had to get pretty creative to figure out how to get past security unnoticed; but I have also gotten to see tons of shows and made out with a ton of roadies.

▶ Ke$ha gets into sugary-sweet pop. She plays Penn’s Landing on August 17.

Quoted

“What’s funny about my lyrics? They’re all dead serious, like the line about the ‘mangina.’” KE$HA

What does it feel like to be going back to cities you’ve been to already on this tour, but at much bigger venues?
Every show I play, whether it’s to two people or 2,000 people, I go balls out. But it’s fun to get to go back because I see that our cult is growing.

Is there anything different you’re doing for the bigger venues?
Naturally, it’s all going to have to be bigger. Bigger band members — minimum 7-foot and 250 pounds; bigger condoms — Hefty garbage-bag size; bigger glitter — each piece is the same radius as a basketball; bigger beer bottles — each beer is actually a pony keg in glass.

How much longer does it take to get ready now that your costuming is so elaborate?
It took no time not to shower before. And it still takes no time not to shower now.

Speaking of dirty, when did you decide that in your writing, you were going to use so many dirty words?
I just write the way I talk and I kind of have a potty mouth. My mom is a songwriter, so I’ve been writing songs since I was a little kid. I guess I get my love of songwriting from my genetic pool. She says I have a very distinctive point of view and manner of expression.

With such a hectic touring schedule, do you still find time to lead the party lifestyle you sing so much about?
I can always find time to party.

Festival bound? Plan ahead

You scored your tickets for Bonnaroo, but that does not guarantee a good time Here's what to bring, what not to bring and how to get your money's worth

▶ You do not want to be that girl in the bottom right-hand corner.

Over the next few months, thousands of concert-goers will herd into dusty fields and pass out from a combination of heat exhaustion and alcohol poisoning. To help you avoid this, we consulted with Frank Bombaci Sr., the organizer of the third annual B.O.M.B. Fest, taking place this weekend in Hartford, Conn. With acts like Weezer, Snoop Dogg, and Best Coast playing, we figured we could trust his tips.

LUKE O'NEIL
luke.oneil@metro.us

▶ Plan ahead

"You want to get to the event early and stake out some good, strategic spots," says Bombaci. "With a festival like ours, there's so much music and multiple stages, you should look at the schedule and map out your strategies. Anchor your day around the one band you definitely need to see to help you figure out what you have time to check out elsewhere."

▶ What to carry in

"It's always good to bring a rain jacket," he says. "You never know when the rain gods are gonna open up." Actually, yes you do. During every outdoor concert ever! Another tip: Lots of festivals, like B.O.M.B., have relaxed restrictions on bringing water in, but not all. Find out ahead what you can bring and save $75 on that Poland Spring bottle. And, it's obvious but worth noting: "Don't forget sunscreen," says Bombaci.

▶ Don't lurk by the main stage

"Pay attention to all the stages and really give those artists the opportunity to be heard. At the smaller stages, the music is phenomenal — even if lots of times people don't really know who they are," says Bombaci. "They might be headlining next year, so now's your chance to see them up close."

▶ Don't bring this

"At our event," says Bombaci, "it's not wise to bring in any kind of cooler. You usually can't bring in a professional style camera either. Pocket cameras are cool, but people have to be understanding that artists don't like flashes in their faces." Also consider leaving the doobies at home, you hippies: "Lots of times you walk into a festival, go to the security counter and they want you to empty out your pockets."

▶ Other mistakes

"I've seen people bring small children to festivals, which is cool to expose them to music and a fun crowd, but you've got to make sure you bring ear protection for kids, and make sure they're lathered up with sunscreen." But what about my other child — the family dog? "Our events don't allow pets, but some do," says Bombaci. "I don't think it's a wise idea."

THE BEST FESTS

Pick your vacation destination as we round up the USA's most musical bangs for your buck this summer

The Roots Picnic
June 4, Penn's Landing
Things kick off right here in Philly with the Roots Picnic, ?uestlove and crew's annual takeover of Penn's Landing. On the linuep this year are sets by Nas and Esperanza Spalding backed by the Roots, as well as Wiz Khalifa, Yelawolf, The Dismemberment Plan, Man Man and plenty more.

HOT TICKETS THIS SUMMER IN PHILLY

Bonnaroo
June 9-12, Manchester, Tenn.
Bonnaroo is known for hippie-izing whoever signs up, like Flaming Lips playing Pink Floyd's "Dark Side of the Moon" last year, or Springsteen jamming with Phish the year before. The toke-'em-if-you've-got-'em tradition continues with a diverse lineup nearly 200-strong that includes Eminem, Mumford and Sons, Wiz Khalifa, Arcade Fire, the Strokes and a Buffalo Springfield reunion.

Elvis Costello

Pitchfork Music Festival
July 15-17, Chicago, Ill.
When you're an indie rock website that basically acts as the barometer of cool, it's important that your festival features all those musicians that you've put on pedestals. Animal Collective, Fleet Foxes, Neko Case, Guided by Voices and TV on the Radio are the biggies here, but the up-and-comers are all great too. Make sure to check out EMA, Yuck and Twin Sister.

Newport Folk Festival
July 30-31, Newport, RI
This year's highlights include acoustic sets from Elvis Costello as well as Tegan and Sara, plus full-on rocking ones from Delta Spirit, Mavis Staples and David Wax Museum. Go on Saturday to see the What Cheer? Brigade roam around the grounds with their terrifyingly beautiful cacophony.

Wiz Khalifa

Patti Smith

Escape to New York
Aug. 5-7, Southampton, NY
We get a kick out of made-up phrases as much as anybody, and when we first heard about this fest in the Hamptons that boasted a glamorous type of camping they called glamping, we got a good laugh. But we stopped laughing when we saw how cool the lineup was. Patti Smith, Edward Sharpe and the Magnetic Zeros, the Vaccines, Best Coast and more! And that's only Friday night!
www.escape2ny.com

Lollapalooza
Aug. 5-7, Chicago, Ill.
Why does Chicago get all the cool fests? And it's not even a repeat of the Pitchfork event two weeks earlier. Totally different lineups. This one has Eminem, Foo Fighters, Ellie Goulding and the only scheduled festival stop from the reunited Cars.

Afro-Punk Festival
Aug. 27-28
Commodore Barry Park, NYC
The acts playing the seventh annual Afro-Punk are all black, but that's about the only thing they have in common, well, aside from awesomeness. See Cee-Lo Green, Santigold, Janelle Monae, Fishbone, Jay Electronica, Toro Y Moi and others who haven't yet been announced.

My favorite concert

As music-lovers, we all have a special memory But what about artists themselves? We asked a few to take us back in time

"I went to Reggae on the River. No one was smoking weed. It was crazy ... There were no dreadlocks, no weed, and it smelled great. ... Make no mistake though, people SCHMOKED WAAAADE. There's no way to write that, is there?" ANDY SAMBERG, THE LONELY ISLAND

The Lonely Island

"Just this last summer at the Download Festival in Donington, it was just unbelievable to play half of the set without the lights because it's so bright in the sun. ... To just go, 'you know, we're not using anything but us,' it was a wonderful moment just knowing it was just you five guys playing to 130,00 fans without any electronic gizmos or any help with pictures or anything."
– Brian Johnson, AC/DC

"The first show I ever saw was the Beach Boys for free at a big public park in Wilmington, Delaware, my hometown. Few things are more enjoyable than listening to the Beach Boys outdoors in the summer, though the Beach Boys sound good any time, any place!"
– Tony Goddess, Papas Fritas

"My first outdoor concert was the first Lollapalooza. ... That was a spiritual experience right there. I remember Jane's Addiction singing, 'Summertime Rolls,' and it was raining out and it was like, 'Ahhh, this is so great!' ... The summertime outdoor shows are the best concerts to attend and the best concerts to perform, because I think the ancient purpose of music is so spiritual, however you want to translate that word, and our ancestors have used it over the centuries in the outdoors, whether singing to the stars or singing for rain or singing for medicine, but it was always working with the natural world, so the experience of being able to be in the outdoors and be able to listen to music and play music just takes the whole ceremony up a few notches."
– Craig Minowa, Cloud Cult

"Summer, winter, fall spring — it's all the same to me. I'm not in school anymore so every day is summer."
– Nikki Sixx, Motley Crüe

THE WORD

Metro's Dorothy Robinson shares her take on the world of gossip @dorothyatmetro dorothy.robinson@metro.us

The feed ...

Usually, we check in with Hollywood. But today, we wanted to see what loyal Word fans were tweeting about.

This week, @theresacomedy one-ups my Bieber joke, @caiodorio09 tells me something in Portuguese, @nicolemfox calls me out on some bad grammar, @v0xtheriot shares the love and @slickpic_com is a spammer robot but has great free "softwar" (deep down in its robot heart, you know it loves The Word):

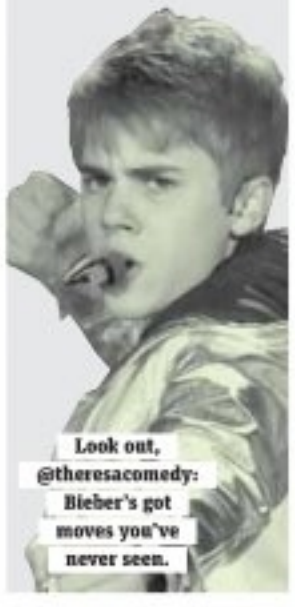
@theresacomedy You wrote, "Bieber's world smells like hormones, cash & hair gel." You forgot man sweat and mothballs. #hewillcomeoutsomeday

@caiodorio09 Penélope Cruz diz achar um absurdo mulheres de 30 estarem preocupadas com a velhice:"da vontade de esbofetear "

@nicolemfox love the word, but please make up your mind about LESS vs. FEWER. for the record, "fewer" is more appropriate :)

@v0xtheriot i follow ur gossip column. You make my mornings

@slickpic_com check out this useful free softwar



Cheryl Cole gets X'd off reality show

Even though I have a feeling that you, like I, don't really know who Cheryl Cole is, it is my duty as your loyal gossip columnist to let you know she's no longer a part of Simon Cowell's U.S. edition of "The X Factor."

While the British star has been a hit on the U.K. version of the show, there were concerns her accent would be too difficult for American audiences to understand, according to TMZ. There were other issues as well, including a "lack of chemistry" with fellow judge Paula Abdul. While reps for Fox have yet to comment on the story, a source close to Cole tells Us Weekly, "It's true. She isn't on the show anymore. Everyone is gobsmacked. This came out of nowhere. Simon had nothing to do with it."

WWW.METRO.US/WORD
DOROTHY ROBINSON'S WORD BLOG

It's a sad day when you lose in a coherency-off with Paula Abdul. However, I still have a feeling Cowell is nervous about his show now that "The Voice" is such a hit. Could all this "drama" be Cowell's way of drumming up attention for the show before it airs in September? Or is she really just the reality TV judge version of the Swedish Chef from the Muppets?

You won't have Cole's deep V-necks to kick around anymore, America!

Stars get green

On Wednesday night, comedians Judy Gold, Sherri Shepherd and Nikki Blonsky helped Bette Midler celebrate the 10th annual Spring Picnic for her Restoration Project at Gracie Mansion in New York. The fundraiser helped MilliontreesNYC, an initiative to plant and care for one million new trees throughout New York City.

"Trees are like good friends. They stand by us, they're helpful friends, quiet friends. And who doesn't love a friend that doesn't talk back?" said Midler during a speech.

Keeping in theme with the evening, when later asked where she'd most like to plant a tree, comedian Gold cracked: "Oh, God. My ultimate spot to plant a tree? I don't know — my apartment?"

With on-the-scene reporting by Jeryl Brunner

Quoted

"My husband is impossible these days. Whenever I complain about him, he says, 'Hey! at least I didn't father a child with the housekeeper.'"

BETTE MIDLER, CRACKING A JOKE AT HER ANNUAL SPRING PICNIC

Talking points

Kellan Lutz: Not a robot

Britney Spears doesn't get everything she wants, apparently, as the singer had her sights set on making out with "Twilight" hunk Kellan Lutz for her latest video, "I Wanna Go," according to E! Online. But Lutz reportedly turned down the offer to co-star in the video, which would've featured him rescuing her from paparazzi and locking lips in the backseat of a car — until she discovers he's a robot. There's no word on who will take on the role.

Lutz

Jennifer's newest man

Jennifer Aniston has reportedly taken an active interest in Justin Theroux, her co-star in the upcoming "Wanderlust," according to Us Weekly. "Jen is totally into him," a source says. "They have been hanging out for months. She wants to be with him all the time. She's diving in headfirst." The pair were spotted having dinner together last week at the Sunset Tower Hotel, but Aniston's rep denied the dating rumors at the time, telling Celebuzz, "What the story neglects to mention is the three additional people also at the dinner. It was a dinner with friends — that's all."

Love

Love doesn't want your sob story

Courtney Love is sick of younger celebrities coming to her for help. "Lindsay Lohan called me after she was arrested," Love tells The Fix. "For some reason, Kim Stewart also called me when Paris Hilton got pulled over for her last DUI. I'm not even that friendly with these girls. What am I, a junkie Auntie Mame?" But that doesn't mean she won't still help friends, like Kelly Osbourne: "This is a girl whose life I have saved twice," Love says. "Once with CPR and another time with CPR and violence — by which I mean I had to poke her furiously in certain places to wake her up from her coma."

Do you 'Kung Fu'?

Oh, did you somehow think there was not going to be a sequel to "Kung Fu Panda"? Jack Black and Angelina Jolie return as creatures who practice martial arts for this second installment, in theaters now.

The wolf pack is back

Bradley Cooper, Zach Galifianakis and Ed Helms return — this time in Bangkok and with a tiny monkey

After the life-threatening escapades of the first "Hangover" film, you'd think the "wolf pack" — played by Bradley Cooper, Ed Helms and Zach Galifianakis — would learn to take it easy when celebrating before a wedding. But "The Hangover Part II" finds the three in a familiar predicament — though in a very unfamiliar location.

In Thailand for Helms' character's wedding (at a plush resort), the three wake up in a run-down Bangkok hotel room with no memory of the night before — and once again missing a member of their party. The exotic location isn't the only thing different about the sequel. "This movie is more about the dynamic of the three guys," Cooper says. "Watching the first one, it could almost be boiled down to one joke. The whole movie's a set-up and the punch line is the credits. When you get to the end of this movie, I'm excited to see the credits, but that's not what I've been thinking about the whole movie."

Revisiting the characters meant getting to show different sides of them, something Galifianakis was thrilled about. "I think we all wanted to see us turning against each other a bit, which was fun to watch. It kind of calls for it," he says.

Of course, what was most exciting for the co-stars was heading to the other side of the world to film. "I just fell in love with Bangkok. We spent two weeks in a resort town, and I couldn't wait to get back to Bangkok," Cooper says.

Settling into Bangkok, Cooper found himself eschewing the local cuisine. "I actually took a liking to Top Menu, which was a Chinese restaurant that I ate a lot at in Bangkok," he says, though Helms is quick to dismiss his co-star's culinary choices.

"It really is just like any Chinese takeout place in New York City," Helms says. Of course, the "Office" star is a bit biased for good reason. "I had a very serious hurdle to get past the first week, which was severe food poisoning," Helms says. "It never fully went away, and maybe I should just leave the rest up to your imagination."

ALL IMAGES ELAINE ERNE

▶ "Baby Bunny Plays with Tape," graphite pencil on paper by Elaine Erne

▶ Have you seen this guy? His friends are looking for him.

A temporarily lost art form

If you're in possession of a sticky stuffed bunny, time is running out to return it and claim your reward

Elaine Erne had a tax refund's worth of stuffed bunnies and duct tape, but she didn't exactly have a plan.

"I just had this image of bunnies all over Philadelphia, and it took off from there. How would I get them out there, and how would I get them back?" says the artist and Moore College instructor of the beginnings of her latest exhibit. "I never thought duct-taping bunnies would be so much work, or fun."

Part gallery show, part community participation project, part sticky cotton-ball tails, "Mr. Bunny Misses His Friends" is the latest installment of Erne's "Lives and Traumas of Stuffed Animals" series of drawings. Ultimately, after some duct-tape strategizing, hundreds of bunnies were abandoned all over the city, adhered to posts with an intriguing offer: If returned to NEXUS gallery before June 3, their rescuer would receive an award.

Some of the bunnies made their way back for the May 12 opening, where their foster parents exchanged them for a print from the show. (There was also an option to adopt the bunny for $5.)

Of the 400 that journeyed out, 64 have returned — a number that Erne is both pleased with and a little worried about.

"I was pretty happy with that — I guess the maternal part of me wanted them to come back," she says. "But people give me bunnies all the time. People walk in my house and get kind of creeped out. And I just realized, 'Oh my gosh, I might have another 100 bunnies.'"

If you go

"Mr. Bunny Misses His Friends" runs through June 3 at NEXUS gallery (Crane Arts Building, 400 N. American St., Suite 102, www.nexusphiladelphia.org).

Time to take a hike, Camping

"END OF THE WORLD HAS BEEN POSTPONED", MG.CO.ZA, MAY 26. As the entire Western world is spectacularly aware, Christian radio evangelist Harold Camping had loudly predicted the biblical apocalypse for May 21, inspiring loyal followers to spend massive amounts of money — in some cases the whole of their worldly fortunes — on his dark doomsday message. "There's going to be this tremendous earthquake," Camping said, leading to a blessedly brief period of "hell on Earth" for non-believers. Of course, like his '94 prediction, it didn't come to pass, the daily grind kept right on grinding, and the 89-year-old Camping was forced, once again, to revise his vision of the end times. But rather than apologizing for his irresponsible doom-crying, Camping came back with his "invisible judgment day" theory, saying that the world was in fact on track to end on Oct. 21 as prophesied. Look, Camping: Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me twice, OK, now you're being kind of a jerk. But three times?! What am I, the "Big Momma" movie-going public?

Horoscope

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. This is not going to be a good day for you if you decide to take a gamble on something you know to be risky. Don't blindly follow a pal into dangerous waters. You'll both founder.
♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Go ahead and be self-serving, but know there will be a price to pay. You might win a skirmish, but what about the war?
♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Watch your back, because someone who is feeding you information might be deliberately giving you false data in order to throw you off course.
♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. There is a good chance you could be manipulated into an argument after which, if something goes wrong, you'll be the one who is blamed. Don't be left holding the bag.
♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. There is no better person to partner up with than you, and someone who knows this might try to take advantage of your cooperative spirit.
♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Sometimes manic Mondays can happen on Friday. Keep a cool noggin, and you'll get through the flak and be chilling poolside, a well-earned daiquiri in hand.
♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. You'll suffer the consequences of palling around with a friend who always has to be onstage. This person's need for significance will irritate everyone and drag you down.
♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Before becoming involved in another's problem, beware of the ramifications if events turn out poorly. In spite of your good intentions, things could go all wrong.
♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Although your powers of concentration are usually pretty good, things could go wrong. A little daydreaming and/or flights of fancy might distort life's realism and throw you off course.
♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. It's more important than usual for you to be prepared for life's unexpected contingencies and to handle your resources very carefully. Put off making any long-term loans for the moment.
♈ Aries March 21-April 19. Someone who was committed to your cause might suddenly switch sides. Learn from this experience so that next time you'll know how to select a better cohort.
♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Putting off doing what needs to be done will have negative repercussions. You know you'll pay the price, but I doubt that you know how much it will cost you. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

MEMORIAL DAY WEEKEND: VIEWING GUIDE

DOWN THE TUBES

Looking for a break from cookouts, boat rides, beer pong? Then check your channel guide to see what's playing We suggest hockey early this weekend — and IndyCar late

Quoted

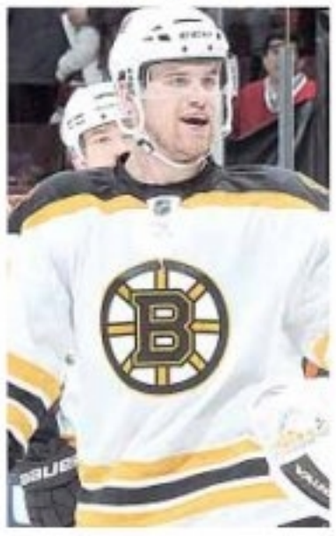
"It's a big deal to me. That's the next step for me. That's what I look forward to doing. ... Whatever happens, I'll be ready to roll."

EAGLES QB KEVIN KOLB, ON BECOMING A STARTING QB IN THE NFL AND THE POSSIBILITY OF BEING TRADED

Around the horn

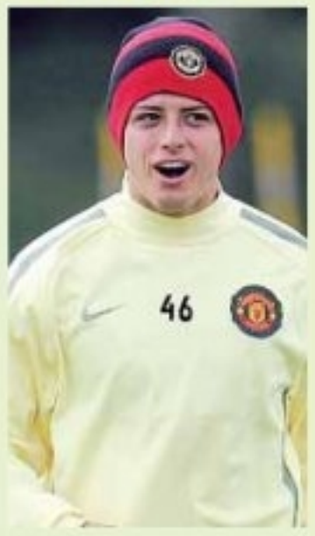
Phillies at Mets
Friday, 7:10 p.m. (CSN)
Baseball has the stage to itself, but commish Bud Selig won't put on a show. This is the only rivalry game — and we use that word loosely — worth seeing all weekend. And even though Roy Halladay or Cliff Lee aren't slated to go, Sunday's matinee should be a good test for Vance Worley (2-0, 2.14 ERA). If he can rebound from last week's "bad outing," he could push Joe Blanton out of the rotation. Offensively, watch out for Ryan Howard. The Big Piece is hitting .320 vs. the Mets with three homers and nine RBIs, while his counterpart Jason Bay is just 1-for-13 against the Phillies.

NHL playoffs



Lightning at Bruins
Friday, 8 (VERSUS)
Hockey and summer go together like Kelly Clarkson and a diet. Still, with the NBA finals basically decided, this Game 7 of the Eastern Conference finals will be the most competitive game on this side of the pond this weekend. The Lightning lit up Tim Thomas for five goals on 26 shots in a Game 6 win, while Tampa's Dwayne Roloson improved to 7-0 in elimination games. Boston is trying to reach the Cup finals for the first time in 21 years, but Martin St. Louis, with four goals and seven points in this series, should lead the Lightning to a win.

Across the pond



Barcelona vs. Man. U
Saturday, 2 (FOX)
Soccer's two biggest powers collide in the UEFA Champions League final — it's the Super Bowl for soccer snobs, as the match will be broadcast by 113 TV companies to more than 220 different countries — for the second time in three years. Barcelona won the 2009 crown with an early netter and 2-0 victory. Manchester United will show a balanced, conservative defense to trip up Lionel Messi and try to steal a win at the new Wembley Stadium on the golden boot of 22-year-old Javier Hernandez, who has scored 20 goals since joining the club 13 months ago.

Fringe sports

French Open
Monday, noon (ESPN2)
Rafael Nadal continued his march to a record sixth French Open title with a Thursday win. Meanwhile, Caroline Wozniacki will try to move on to the quarterfinals for the second straight year. Novak Djokovic may end up stealing the spotlight, though, if he remains undefeated this season.

BMW PGA Championship
Sat./Sun., 9 a.m. (GOLF)
A Tiger-less PGA Tour has taken a backseat to the European Tour. All four reigning major champions — and six of the world's top seven players — are in this, including No. 2 Luke Donald, who shot a 7-under 64 to take the first-round lead Thursday.

Rev your engines

Indianapolis 500
Sunday, noon (ABC)
You may know only two names at this year's race, but it's still worth checking out. Literally. Danica Patrick snuck into the 33-car field after a top-10 finish last year, while superfan Ashley Judd could be in the winner's circle yet again, if husband Dario Franchitti takes the checkered flag for a third time. Franchitti, the defending champ, and Scott Dixon are the co-favorites to win the 100th running of this iconic race. But watch out for Helio Castroneves, who is looking to become the fourth driver to win the Indy 500 four times. METRO

Lee does everything as Phillies finish off Reds

Three things we saw ...

- Phillies 10, Reds 4
- Up next: at N.Y. Mets Friday, 7:10 p.m. (CSN)

1 He can do no wrong. Is there anything the unflappable Cliff Lee can't do? The Phillies left-hander threw eight strong innings, while driving in three runs. His ground-rule, bases-loaded double in the sixth inning staked the Phils to a 6-4 lead that they wouldn't relinquish. And Lee (4-4, 3.50 ERA) threw hard, allowing four runs on 10 hits with eight strikeouts.

2 Welcome back, Chase. It took Chase Utley 15 plate appearances, but the All-Star with the compact swing notched his first home run of the season in the eighth. He is 2-for-14 since returning from the DL. Utley had a night off Tuesday, but stepped in to pinch-hit and drew a walk. His schedule is being monitored closely by both team doctors and skipper Charlie Manuel.

12 Pitches thrown by Jose Contreras — eight for strikes — in a scoreless ninth. He was activated from the 15-day disabled list before Thursday's game.

3 Respect. Some 12 hours after earning his first big-league win, Wilson Valdez was back in the Phillies' lineup, batting seventh and starting at third base. Valdez received a standing ovation from another sold-out crowd at Citizens Bank Park when he stepped to the plate in the second inning. On Wednesday night, Valdez became the first player in MLB history to start a game in the field and log a pitching win since Babe Ruth did it way back on Oct. 1, 1921.

'We lost, I didn't play, end of story'

If Chris Pronger had been healthy, many believe the Flyers would still be fighting for the Stanley Cup. Of course, he wasn't. And we'll never know how far this team could have advanced with Pronger on the ice.

"You know what, I'd like to think so, but I don't know," Pronger said Thursday, when asked if he would have made an impact on the Boston series. "I am not going to look into the past and say could've, should've, would've. We lost plain and simple. I didn't play, I was hurt. End of story."

Pronger was speaking for the first time since undergoing surgery to repair a herniated disc in his back. He said it will probably be another four to five weeks before he knows exactly where he's at physically.

GETTY IMAGES

▶ Pronger played in just three playoff games.

"Everybody is different and everybody recovers differently, and you hope that you're able to recover a hundred percent, but that's never a guarantee and you never know," Pronger said. "I won't know that until probably training camp or maybe even further on."

The star defenseman believes the Flyers are primed for another Cup run. But he wouldn't join the general chorus by agreeing that the team was just a goalie away from achieving that goal.

"You could go get whoever, you name a guy, you could go get him. It's not a guarantee that you're going to win," he said.

A classic at Wembley

Saturday's Champions League final matches two of the top clubs in the world ◗ Barcelona, Man. U as big as they come ◗ Kickoff: 2:45 p.m., FOX

The soccer gods really delivered with this one.

Saturday's UEFA Champions League final matches the two most popular club teams in the world — Manchester United and Barcelona — at perhaps the most prestigious soccer venue on Earth — London's Wembley Stadium.

GETTY IMAGES

Love the game or not, you simply can't miss this one. Kickoff is 2:45 p.m. — local time (FOX).

Barca, with no true on-field weakness, is undoubtedly the favorite. Led by Lionel Messi (left), the Spanish league champs bounced archrival Real Madrid 3-1 in the two-leg, aggregate-goal semifinals.

Messi has scored 49 goals in 46 games this season. David Villa is second on the team, with 22.

Man. U had no trouble with Germany's Schalke 04 in the semifinals, taking the two-game series 6-1. Barca beat Man. U 2-0 in the 2009 final. METRO

Union staff, Sons of Ben set to tangle

The Philadelphia Union have really upped the ante this time, challenging their supporters to a charity match.

Union staffers will square off against the Sons of Ben — the MLS franchise's ultra-loyal supporters club — in the inaugural River Cup at PPL Park on July 15. Tickets are $10 apiece, with all proceeds going to Chester City United.

"After all those matches testing our vocal cords at PPL Park, it's now our turn to be out on the pitch, show our skills in front of the crowd, and prove to the Union we can pull out the win," said Sons of Ben vice-president Matt Ansbro.

The Union play at Toronto FC Saturday at 12:30 p.m. The game is airing on CSN. METRO
